

Panel 1

The Wrong Turn

NARRATION: They came for the thrill. They stayed for the terror. As the sun bleeds out of the sky, six friends stand at nature's gaping maw—the infamous Guna Cave.

KAVYA: (shivering, pulling her jacket tight) I'm telling you guys, this was a bad idea. Look at the shadows stretching out... it's like the mountain is swallowing the light.

ARJUN: Relax, Kavya! You watch too many horror movies. We just wanted a cool Instagram spot, remember?

SATHISH: (glancing nervously at his watch) Arjun's right, let's not freak out before we even step inside. But... keep it moving, everyone. Twilight is fading fast, and we don't want to be caught out here in the dark.

Panel 2

Fading Light

NARRATION: But deep within the labyrinth of twisted roots and ancient rock, the modern world vanishes. And with it... our lifeline.

SATHISH: (eyes wide, staring at a dead screen) No, no, no... come on!

KAVYA: What is it, Sathish? Tell me we still have GPS!

SATHISH: Zero bars. Not even an emergency signal. And look at my flashlight?it?s totally dead!

ARJUN: Mine?s flickering, too! What is happening?!

Panel 3

Voices in the Dark

NARRATION: Claustrophobia isn't just a feeling here. It's a physical weight, crushing the air right out of their lungs as panic turns brother against brother.

VIKRAM: (hands clawing at his hair) I knew it! I knew we shouldn't have gone off the trail! We're going to die in here!

ANITA: Shut up, Vikram! You're not helping!

VIKRAM: Look around us! The walls are closing in! We're trapped!

SATHISH: (slamming his palm against a rock face, voice booming) STOP IT! ALL OF YOU! Panicking won't find us a way out! We stick together, understand? Together!

Panel 4

The Chasm

NARRATION: Silence falls?heavy, suffocating, and absolute. They hold their breath, marching forward into the black, guided by the dying beam of one solitary flashlight.

SATHISH: (holding up the flickering torch, voice dropping to a trembling whisper) Stop. Everybody... stop moving. Right now.

KAVYA: Sathish? Why are you shining the light straight down like that?

SATHISH: (eyes reflecting sheer horror) Because... there?s nothing underneath us.

NARRATION: One step further, and they wouldn't have fallen into the cave. They would have fallen into eternity.

Panel 5

A Glint of Hope

NARRATION: At the edge of the abyss, when the darkness threatens to consume them whole, salvation wears a very thin, very distant disguise.

ARJUN: (breathing heavily) It's a dead end. We're cut off. There's no way across.

SATHISH: (suddenly freezing, squinting into the vertical gloom) Wait... look up. Way up.

VIKRAM: Is that...?

SATHISH: (a fierce, desperate grin breaking across his face) Sunlight. It's a fissure in the rock. We climb.