

Panel 1

The Forbidden Border

CAPTION: Every village has its rules. Most of them are boring. This one, however, is a matter of life and death.

NARRATION: For generations, the elders whispered of the Weeping Woods—a place where the trees remember, and the fog hides things best left undisturbed. But rules have never been very good at stopping curiosity.

MARIA: (Staring into the abyss of the forest, jaw set) "They said you were just a legend... a ghost story to keep kids in bed after dark."

Panel 2

The Glowing Barrier

CAPTION: Thump. Thump. Thump. That?s not the wind. That?s the pulse of magic itself.

NARRATION: The boundary doesn't look like much at first?just a shimmer in the air, like heat off summer asphalt. But as Maria reaches out, the reality of the ancient ward sets in.

MARIA: (Trembling, fingertips hovering inches from the glow) "Whoa... It's like touching glass, but it's breathing. It?s alive."

Panel 3

The Inner Call

CAPTION: And then... the forest whispers back.

NARRATION: It starts as a melody, faint and sweet, echoing through the gnarled branches. The glowing wisps don't just float—they beckon. They weave through the shadows, singing a single, impossible word.

MARIA: (Eyes wide, mesmerized) "Maaariaaa..."

(Shaking her head slightly, breathless) "Is that... is that me? Are you calling my name?"

Panel 4

A Leap of Faith

CAPTION: Fear is heavy. But wonder? Wonder has wings.

NARRATION: There is no turning back now. The hesitation vanishes, replaced by a sudden, electric surge of bravery. With a single step, Maria crosses the threshold of the known world!

MARIA: (Yelling against the roaring magical winds) "Here goes nothing!"

Panel 5

The Awakening

CAPTION: BOOM! Welcome to the other side, kid.

NARRATION: The transition isn't a wall; it's an explosion of senses. The dreary fog burns away, replaced by an ecosystem straight out of a waking dream, as the forest bows to its new guest.

MARIA: (Gasping, dropping to a whisper as giant blossoms unfurl around her) "By the stars... it's not dark at all. It's... it's beautiful."