

Panel 1

Entering the Woods

CAPTION: The air bites with the sharp edge of a dying year.

NARRATION: There are places where the world stops shouting, and the silence begins to speak.

ROBERT FROST: (Quietly, to his steed) Easy, old friend... Let's see what secrets these old trees are keeping tonight.

Panel 2

The Darkest Evening

CAPTION: The twilight bleeds out of the sky, swallowed by towering pines heavy with winter's cold white burden.

NARRATION: Whose woods these are, I think I know. His house is in the village though; he will not see me stopping here to watch his woods fill up with snow.

Panel 3

Stopping by Woods

CAPTION: Jingle.

NARRATION: A sudden, crisp sound shatters the stillness?a gentle reminder that we are not entirely alone in the dark.

ROBERT FROST: (Pulling the reins) Whoa, steady now. What's that, boy?

(SFX: JINGLE-JANGLE)

NARRATION: The horse gives his harness bells a shake, asking if there is some mistake.

Panel 4

Lovely, Dark, and Deep

CAPTION: The only other sound? the sweep of easy wind and downy flake.

NARRATION: The woods are lovely, dark, and deep. Oh, how easy it would be to surrender to the velvet quiet... to let the cold wrap around like a blanket.

ROBERT FROST: (Whispering) So tempting... so peaceful...

Panel 5

Miles to Go

CAPTION: But promises are heavy things, forged in the fires of the waking world.

NARRATION: But I have promises to keep, and miles to go before I sleep. And miles to go before I sleep.

ROBERT FROST: Come on, steady on. We've got a long ride ahead of us. Hah!
